Attention: Mr. Jose Valeriano B. Zuno III
OIC-Head, Disclosure Department

Gentlemen:

We refer to the Philippine Stock Exchange's ("PSE") request for clarification of the news article entitled "Marcventures looks to China for nickel processing venture" posted in Manila Bulletin (Internet Edition) on October 18, 2016. The article reported in part that:

"Manila - Marcventures Holdings, Inc, one of the Philippines' nickel miners facing a possible suspension following a government audit, saidon Tuesday it was in talks with potential Chinese partners for local processing of the metal.

'I talked to about two or three major Chinese companies and they are going to be potentially our partners in nickel processing plants in the Philippines,' Marcventures President Isidro Alcantara said in an interview with ABS-CBN News Channel.

'We are serious, we are moving forward and we are talking to them,' he added, without identifying the potential Chinese investors.

'(The Chinese have) visited our mines. They've looked at the potential, we are even thinking of acquiring additional properties because we will need to feed the processing plant with nickel over a 15-20,-year period,'

Alcantara said.

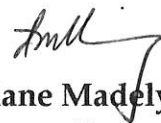

Marcventures could build a plant at a cost 'much lower' than the $1.7 billion invested to construct the Taganito processor in the province of Surigao because a different technology is available from China, he said. The Taganito plant uses high pressure acid leach technology for processing nickel ore.

Marcventures is hoping to begin shipping processed nickel to China and Japan by 2018, Alcantara said."

In this regard, we confirm that the Company through its subsidiary, Marcventures Mining and Development Corp. is considering the development of a nickel processing plant and the acquisition of other mining properties to sustain the supply of ore for said plant. It is currently conducting a feasibility study to determine its viability. It is likewise in talks with potential business partners or investors. The Company has not yet entered into any firm agreements regarding this matter. We shall accordingly inform the Exchange of any developments.

Very truly yours,

Diane Madelyn Ching
Assistant Corporate Secretary
